A QUESTION ABOUT
Brown's Iron Bitters
ANSWERED.
The question has probably been asked thousands of times "How can Brown's Iron Bitters cure every thing?" Well it does!! But it does cure any disease for which a reputable physician would prescribe IRON! Physicians recognize Iron as the best restorative agent known to the profession, and inquire of any leading chemical firm will substantiate the assertion that there are more preparations of Iron than of any other substance used in medicine. This shows conclusively how important it is to ascertain the most important factor in successful medical practice. Before BROWN'S IRON BITTERS was discovered, no reliable, satisfactory Iron combination had ever been found.
BROWN'S IRON BITTERS does not injure the teeth, cause headache, produce constipation—all other Iron medicines do. BROWN'S IRON BITTERS cures Indigestion, Biliousness, Want of Energy, Nervousness, Dyspepsia, Malaria, Chills and Fevers, Tired Feeling, General Debility, Pain in the Side, Back or Limbs, Headache and Neuralgia—for all these ailments Iron is recommended.
BROWN'S IRON BITTERS is a genuine, but not a secret, remedy. It is sure in a short time. Takes all other Carbonyl medicines. It acts slowly. When taken by men the first symptom of benefit is increased energy. The muscles then become firmer, the digestion improves, the appetite returns; in women the effect is usually more rapid and marked, the complexion becomes clear, the step elastic, and the whole system is supplied for the child. Remember Brown's Iron Bitters is the ONLY Iron medicine that is not liable to blacken the teeth. Physicians and Druggists recommend it.
The Genuine has Trade Mark and crossed red lines on wrapper. TAKE NO OTHER.

COVERED WITH SORES.
I have been afflicted since last March with a Skin disease the doctors called Eczema. My face was covered with sores and scabs, and the itching and burning were almost unbearable. Seeing your CUTICURA REMEDIES so highly recommended, concluded to give them a trial, using the CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP externally, and RESOLVENT internally, for four months. I call myself cured, in gratitude for which I make this public statement.
MRS. CLARA A. FREDERICK.
BROAD BROOK, CONN.

SCALP, FACE, EARS AND NECK.
I was afflicted with Eczema on the Scalp, Face, Ears and Neck, which the druggist, where I got your remedies, pronounced one of the worst cases that had come under his notice. He advised me to try your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after five days' use my scalp and neck are entirely well, and I hope in another week to have my ears, neck and the other part of my face cured.

ITCHING DISEASES CURED.
CUTICURA standard the head of its class, especially in this the case with the CUTICURA SOAP. Have had an unusually good sale this summer, owing to the prevalence of an aggravated form of itch through some bedclothes in the country, in which the CUTICURA REMEDIES proved satisfactory.

THE SEWING MACHINE is the cause of Uterine Pains and Weaknesses. For Aching Sides and Back, Kidney Pains, Sciatica, Chest Pains, Weakness and Inflammation, use CUTICURA ANTI-PAIN PLASTER. 25c.

BILIOUSNESS.
Bilious symptoms invariably arise from indigestion, such as furred tongue, vomiting of bile, giddiness, sick headache, irregular bowels. The liver secretes the bile and acts like a filter or sieve, to cleanse impurities of the blood. By irregularity in its action or suspensions of its functions, the bile is liable to overflow into the blood, causing jaundice, sallow complexion, yellow eyes, bilious diarrhœa, a languid, weary feeling and many other distressing symptoms. Biliousness may be properly termed an affection of the liver, and can be thoroughly cured by the grand regulator of the liver and biliary organs, BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS. It acts upon the stomach, bowels and liver, making healthy bile and pure blood, and opens the culverts and sluiceways for the outlet of disease. Sold everywhere and guaranteed to cure.

Scrofula
Is one of the most fatal scourges which afflict mankind. It is often inherited, and may be the result of improper vaccination, mercurial poison, uncleanliness, and various other causes. Chronic Sores, Ulcers, Abscesses, Cancerous Humors, and, in some cases, Emaciation and Consumption, result from a scrofulous condition of the blood. This disease can be cured by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.
Inherited scrofulous condition of the blood, which caused a derangement of my whole system. After taking less than four bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla I am and, for the past year, have not found it necessary to use any medicine whatever. I am now in better health, and stronger, than ever before.—O. A. Willard, 218 Tremont st., Boston, Mass.
I was troubled with Scrofulous Sores for five years; but, after using a few bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the sores healed, and I have now good health.—Elizabeth Warnock, 51 Appleton street, Lowell, Mass.
Some months ago I was troubled with Scrofulous Sores on my leg. The limb was badly swollen and inflamed, and the sores discharged large quantities of offensive matter. Every remedy failed until I used Ayer's Sarsaparilla. By taking three bottles of this medicine the sores have been healed, and my health is restored. I am grateful for the good it has done me.—Mrs. Ann O'Brian, 168 Sullivan st., New York.

Little Johnny's Pocket.

"Do you know what's in my pocket?
Such a lot of treasures in it!
Listen, now, while I budin it;
Such a lot o' stings it holds,
And all there is you shall be told.
Everything that's in my pocket,
And when, and where, and how I got it.

"First of all, here's in my pocket
A beauty stone; I picked it up,
And here's the handle of a cup
That somebody has broken at tea,
The shell's a hole in it, you see,
Nobody knows that I have got it,
I keep it safe here in my pocket.

"And here's my ball, too, in my pocket,
And here's my pennies, one, two, free,
That my Aunt Mary div to me;
To-morrow day I'll buy a spade
When I'm out walking with the maid,
I can't put eat here in my pocket,
But I can use it when I've got it.

"Here's some more stings in my pocket,
Here's my lead and here's my string,
And once I had an iron ring,
But through a hole it lost one day;
And here is what I always say—
A hole's the worst sin' in a pocket—
Have it mended when you've got it."

HISTORY OF MILLS.

Prepared for the Gettysburg Compiler.

ASPER'S MILL.

This property is situated on Opossum creek, Menallen township, Adams county, on the new railroad, about one mile from Bendersville. According to tradition, about 1732 John Wright took up a large tract of land at the point mentioned, and subsequently had it patented. He afterwards sold off a number of small tracts to different parties, and erected a saw-mill, and some of the older citizens state that he had a corn and flour grist mill about 30 yards below where the present mill stands. In the year 1766 he sold and conveyed to Michael Minick 52 acres of land with the above improvements. We then lose sight of its owner until about the year 1800, when we have it by deeds and drafts as belonging to Christian Lahman, Sen., who erected the present mill. This building is 55 by 45 feet, three stories high, built of brick, the walls two feet thick in the lower story and tapering to top. It had in it four run of stone with overshot wheels 18 feet high. (Height of head and fall of water 24 feet.) We find in about the year 1816 the death of Christian Lahman, leaving a will with Jacob Diehl as his executor, who sold and conveyed in the year 1816 unto Michael Hissel 72 acres of land, with grist mill, saw-mill and other improvements, for a consideration of £5,000. He owned it until about 1821, at which time he died, John Diehl becoming administrator of the estate. In 1825 John Diehl, as administrator, sold the property to John Pfoutz, John Lahman and Christian Lahman, Jr., with its improvements, for $5,000, who continued the owners up to 1831, when the property was divided under a deed of partition, John Pfoutz and John Lahman taking the grist mill and saw-mill with 8 acres of land, and Christian Lahman taking the farm. In 1832 John Lahman purchased the undivided half of John Pfoutz's interest in the mill property, and in the same year sold in a joint deed with Christian Lahman the mill and farm to Daniel Hoffman, who continued its owner until the year 1839.

In 1839 John Hoffman sold and conveyed unto John Eppleman the mill and farm for a consideration of $9,000. In 1850 John Eppleman sold and conveyed unto Joseph Cline the mill and farm for a consideration of $13,000. In the year 1856 Joseph Cline sold and conveyed unto Henry Eppleman the mill and farm for a consideration of $13,926. In the year 1878 Henry Eppleman sold and conveyed to the present owner, F. A. Asper, the mill and farm for $14,000. He has built the second dwelling house since being first taken up as Penn land, a brick structure, 35 by 55 feet, two stories, and has remodeled the mill; also erected a warehouse, 20 by 45 feet, with wheat separator, elevators and conveyors connected, run by water power, conveyed by rod to the house, 340 feet in length from mill race. Through these years the farm has undergone many changes, lands being sold off and others purchased; but the grist mill remains the same structure as built by Christian Lahman, with only the necessary repairs of wear and tear. SUING HER FATHER FOR BREACH OF PROMISE.—A curious suit for breach of promise will be tried at the next term of the Burlington County (N. J.) Supreme Court. Miss Ella Wilcox, a young woman well known in the society of Mount Holly, became engaged to be married to John Cook, of the same place. Mr. Cook went through all the regular formalities, and asked and obtained Mr. Wilcox's consent to marry his daughter. The wedding was to have taken place on May 18. Three days before the wedding day, for some unknown reason, Mr. Wilcox changed his mind about the desirability of Mr. Cook as a son-in-law, and said the ceremony would not take place. When Miss Wilcox told Mr. Cook of this change in feeling on the part of her father, the prospective bridegroom got angry and left the house, saying he was disgusted and was going away, never to return. Miss Wilcox thought the matter all over, and the more she thought the more angry she became at her father. Last week she hunted up a lawyer, and with his assistance she began a suit for $10,000 damages for breach of promise against her father, alleging that he was the sole cause of her lover's estrangement; and that she needed about that amount to patch up her broken heart and hunt up another fellow. It is believed that this is the first suit for breach of promise ever begun in which the girl's own father is the defendant.

AN old prospector from Alaska tells the following about mosquitoes in that far land: "The mosquitoes kill bears. Now it seems strange that a mosquito could kill a bear, but this is the way it is done. The bears come down from the hills into the marsh land to feed on roots and berries—a sort of a cranberry found there. As soon as they get comfortably to work the mosquitoes attack them, and go for their eyes. The bears get up on their hind legs to fight them off, and sink into the swamp. The mosquitoes, which are of a most extraordinary size, keep at them until they are totally blind, and then they have them completely at their mercy. I have seen over a dozen bear carcasses in those swamps positively killed by mosquitoes.

MORE ABOUT TURNPIKES.

THE NATIONAL ROAD.

The most important and best-constructed early turnpike in the United States was the National road, leading from Cumberland to Wheeling, and subsequently extended. The length of the line first opened was 130 miles, and the cost of construction $1,700,000. The contracts stipulated that the road should be 80 feet in width, the road-bed 32 feet wide, 20 feet of the graduated part to be covered with stone 18 inches deep at the centre, and tapering to 12 inches deep at the edges, the upper 6 inches of the stone to be broken so as to pass through a ring 3 inches in diameter, and the lower stratum to be broken so as to pass through a 7-inch ring. The stone part was to be covered with gravel, and rolled with an iron-faced roller, 4 feet in length, and made to bear 3 tons. The bridges along the road were superior edifices for the era in which they were constructed.

Although the proposition to construct this road was first made in Congress in 1797, and the act providing for its construction was passed in 1806, the first stage-coach bearing the United States mails passed over it from Cumberland to Wheeling on August 1st, 1818. Of the construction of one of its sections, 11 miles long, reaching from Braddock Grove to Uniontown, which was reached in 1817, A. L. Little, Esq., formerly of Fayette county, Pennsylvania, wrote: "I was there to see it located, and the stakes stuck across the old common south of Woodstock, afterwards Monroe, * * before a shovelful of earth was displaced, and also to see that great contractor, Mordecai Cochran, with his immortal Irish brigade, a thousand strong, with their carts, wheel-barrows, picks, shovels, and blasting tools, grading those commons, and climbing the mountainside, * * and leaving behind them a roadway good enough for an emperor to travel over."

This national road continued to be, for a considerable period, the favorite national highway for connecting the settlements east and west of the Alleghany mountains, and especially for the journeys of congressmen and travellers to and from Washington. Stage movements probably never gained a higher state of perfection in this country than on this route, as mail contractors were anxious to make a good impression on the senators and representatives who traveled in their coaches and whose influence might prove potential in transactions with the post-office department or appropriations for postal service.

Of this road, as of many other turnpikes, it is stated that heavy travel and failure to make proper provision for timely repairs, wore out the bed. Of the turnpikes of the country, generally, a civil engineer in addressing his associates says that "under the effects of frost, rain, and the heavy traffic, turnpikes become expensive and unprofitable; and people, in good weather, would travel over a parallel road to avoid paying toll. Soon they were unpopular and condemned by the community generally, and most unjustly; for, until over-burdened by the quantity and weight of traffic, they served well their purpose; thereby cities and towns were built up, the lands through which they passed were increased in value five-fold, and the general enhancement of taxable property was ten times the original cost of the turnpikes. Now that they are relieved from heavy and ruinous loads, they are, if well made and kept, as useful and profitable as in their early career."

TURNPIKE FINANCIERING.

In constructing turnpikes, before the era of canals had fully commenced, a variety of methods for securing the requisite financial aid were adopted. Over a few routes the United States government paid the expense. Over many others private companies supplied the means. In some cases they were aided by subscriptions of states to their stock, and in others they received no such assistance. Other turnpikes were constructed or extended by a combination of the contributions of states and counties. The western portion of the turnpike connecting Pittsburg with Philadelphia was constructed in the manner last described. Of the travel on this road a newspaper writer says:

THE OLD-TIME TEAMSTERS.

Looking back at the old-time travel along the turnpike, the history of it is most interesting. First of all, both in importance and interest, was the freight traffic on the road. Hundreds and hundreds of men, horses, and wagons, year in and year out, crowded together the busy thoroughfare. Baltimore and Philadelphia were the great centres of traffic for the west, inasmuch as nearly all the buying of goods for western cities was at these places. Merchants made their journeys from Pittsburg to one or the other of these cities and laid in their spring and autumn supplies. Always coming west were the heavily loaded wagons to be met. Hardly ever were they thus loaded going east. And so it was that all along the turnpike a busy, crowded state of affairs was constantly carried on. The great, high-topped wagons, over which white canvas coverings were fastened, as they passed along the pike in long lines together, formed an interesting sight. Six and eight horses were attached to each wagon to draw the enormous loads upon them. The drivers, walking along at the sides of the horses, now and then touching up one of them, that was shirking his duty, with a formidable "blacksnake" whip, were a curious class of men. They mostly travelled together for company. At night, when the tired teams drew up before the taverns that lined the turnpike throughout its entire length, the teamsters, after attending to their teams, prepared to have a jolly time of it. Whisky was very plenty and cheap, and everybody drank it. Between whisky and cards, the teamsters generally managed to put in a lively night. Occasionally the fun resulted in something worse, and fighting was added to the night's programme. But disturbances were not frequent, and considering the large crowds of these men oftentimes congregated in a tavern at one time, they must be accorded better tempers than those that the whisky of the present day makes. Taverns, as they were then called, were very numerous. Half the houses along the way accommodated the traveler. As many as forty or fifty wagons oftentimes stopped over night at one house. Many of the teamsters carried bed-clothes with them, and spread them out on the floor, where they slept in rows like soldiers. It was a rough life, but they enjoyed it for all that, and when rumors went the rounds that a great railway line was going to be built across the state, and with it would come an end to their life on the turnpike, the howl of opposition from these men would have killed the project, if howls could have done it.

THE OLD STAGE-COACH LINES.

The stage-coach feature of the old turnpike is something with such a dash and liveliness about the very thought of it awakens our interest. It was truly the life of the turnpike. Dashing along at a gallop, the four horses attached to the coach formed quite a marked contrast to the slowly-plodding teams drawing the big wagons. Then there was something of more than ordinary interest about the coach itself, and the passengers as well. For many years two great lines of coaches were run between Pittsburg and Philadelphia. Starting daily, the three hundred and fifty odd miles between the two cities were passed over in about three days—that is, if the roads were in very good condition—but more time was usually required. Every twelve miles a change of horses was made, and quickly. No time was lost, and no rest was given the traveler. It was by no means a ride of great pleasure, but it was the only way, and it was taken without complaining. Usually every six miles a toll-gate was placed, though sometimes the toll-gates were twelve miles apart. There was one cheering thought about the journey that in those days was sufficient to make it bearable, at least to the men. There was plenty to drink along the way, and it was both good and cheap. Ministers, lawyers, statesmen, and all, while horses were being changed at the relay stations, rushed out of the stage-coach to the taverns, and comforted themselves with something cheering. The fare on the stage-coach from city to city varied somewhat, as did the condition the roads were in, or as the rival lines cut the closest on prices. A through-pass ticket from Pittsburg to Philadelphia was all the way from $14 to $20, which in those days meant more than the same sum does now. There were special rates to emigrants, but they were brought west in large covered wagons, and not on the regular coaches. For twenty-five years emigrant travel formed a big portion of the business along the turnpike. It was mostly from Baltimore, thousands of immigrants landing there, and engaging passage to the west through companies engaged in that business alone.—J. L. Ringwalt, in Railway World.

A BELL OF GREAT VALUE.—Father Mulholland, late pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic Church, who died abroad, was a descendant of an ancient Irish family which was about the first to receive the faith from St. Patrick. One of Father Mulholland's ancestors served mass for St. Patrick until the great preacher's death, and received as a token of esteem St. Patrick's mass bell. This relic was handed down through the family from father to son. During the revolution of 1798 Edward Mulholland, who was a poor school-teacher, buried the bell and willed it upon his death to Andrew McClain, a fellow school-teacher and friend. The bell was sold less than ten years ago by McClain's son to the Royal Hybernian Historical Society of Dublin for $2,000. Gen. St. Clair Mulholland, a brother of Father Mulholland, recently tried to purchase the bell, but the Historical Society would not sell it at any price. The bell was placed seven centuries ago in a case inlaid with gold and precious stones. Copies of the case, which still remain with the bell, are in Memorial Hall, in the Louvre in Paris, and in the Corcoran Gallery, Washington. Father Mulholland succeeded Father Nugent as pastor of St. Patrick's Church, and was at the time of his appointment the youngest rector of a Catholic church in any of the important dioceses of the United States. His congregation numbered 18,000 souls. —Phila. Record.

IS HYDROPHOBIA PURELY IMAGINATIVE?—Dr. William Lohman, of Baltimore, says: I don't believe in Pasteur's inoculation theory, because I don't believe in hydrophobia. It is, in my opinion, an imaginary disease, and I defy anybody to produce a well authenticated instance of where hydrophobia attacked an idiot or an infant bitten by a rabid dog. It needs a good, vivid imagination as an adjunct of the disease. Some years ago a man came to me for cauterization of what he claimed was the bite of a mad dog. It did not look like a wound made by teeth, but I cauterized it to satisfy him. A month afterwards that man died with all the symptoms of hydrophobia as described by the standard authorities. After his death it was established conclusively that the wound was made by a nail in a fence that he had climbed to get away from the dog, and also that the animal was very old and had only three teeth—those very far back in the jaw and impossible to use to bite with. That case shattered my faith in hydrophobia, and subsequent investigations destroyed it altogether. There is no such thing.

AN old beggar man in Stirling, known about 80 years ago as "Blind Alick," knew the whole Bible by heart, and if a sentence was read to him he could name both chapter and verse; or, if only the book, chapter and verse were named, he could give the exact words. A gentleman, to test him, repeated a verse, purposely making one inaccuracy. Alick hesitated, named the place where the passage was to be found, but at the same time pointed the verbal error. The same gentleman asked him to repeat the nineteenth verse of the seventh chapter of the Book of Numbers. Alick almost instantly replied: "There is no such verse. The chapter has only 80 verses."

IT would appear that the first boycotter was the "beast" of the book of the Revelations. In the 13th chapter and the 17th verse of that book this passage occurs: "He (the beast) causeth * * * that no man might buy or sell save he that had the mark of the name of the beast, or the number of his name." In view of this wouldn't it be fair to call boycotting a beastly practice?

TEN-YEAR-OLD Nancy Taylor, of Grant, In., reads with the book upside down and writes with inverted characters, beginning at the right side of paper or slate. She says that everything within three feet of her eyes seems upside down. At a greater distance her sight is normal.

WHILE Prof. Wise, the aeronaut, was passing over a settlement in his balloon in Virginia, Tuesday, a colored woman, wild with fear, rushed out of her house shouting: "Come yer, chillun, right out in de middle ob de road; something gwine to happen. Yonder comes my blessed Jesus walking in de clouds."

THE FACT OF THE MATTER.

"That will never do, Miss Josie. Your work does not improve much, I observe," said a chunky individual with a sleek, coppery head, a sombre visage, and a marvelous cravat.

We had just entered the long work room and he was critically examining an elaborately braided jersey, completed at the moment.

"Is there something wrong with the braiding?" asked Josie, an uncommonly pretty girl, with large brown eyes and a delicate lily face.

"The braid does not follow the lines of the pattern, and you are using thread much too coarse," the chunky young man said, as he still inspected the work, and still with the air of an experienced authority.

"You instructed me yourself, Mr. Hunt, to use none other than that particular thread," Josie said with spirit, but not uncivilly.

"I think not, Miss Josie. Very likely you have forgotten what my instructions really were. The fact of the matter is, our manufactory is not quite the place for you. I am not blaming you, Miss Josie; you are willing, no doubt, but you are not strong enough for such unremitting labor; and you cannot help being remiss when you are weary and worried," Mr. Hunt returned in his slow, sleek, insinuative fashion.

Certainly he was not eminently prepossessing, with his chunky frame, his shambling gait, his dull and shifting eyes. She had never felt the smallest liking for him; she hated the sound of his grandiloquent and unnaturally smooth tones; she detested the sight of his bloodless and Ishmaelitish visage.

She did not know precisely how much authority he really had in the manufactory; he was always shambling and prying about the building when the superintendent chanced away, and she had decided that he must be a moneyed member of the new firm. He did not come in frequently to that department, and he always came with the air of a master—with an air of superior discrimination and absolute authority, which was obviously meant to be very impressive.

"I try to not be remiss at all," Josie said somewhat impatiently and with a prompt motion to change the specis of braiding machine.

He moved a little more nearly to her side, he bent so closely over her that his bloodless visage almost touched her brown, pretty head.

"We are sure of that, Miss Josie," he said in a smooth whisper close to her dainty ear. "You try to do everything which is correct and agreeable! But the fact of the matter is you are too delicate and sensitive for our coarse and noisy factory. But you know I am ready to take you away—you know I am ready to make you my wife."

With that extraordinary declaration he stepped back, seeming profoundly occupied with the animadverted jersey and awaited her answer.

But the girl looked neither flattered nor conciliatory; her spirited face crimsoned and whitened again; her large eyes blazed like flame.

"You would do me too much honor," she said, with an unmistakable undertone of contempt somewhere in her civil voice.

"The fact of the matter is you cannot afford to refuse me," he pursued, with the suggestion of a threat in his sombre, shifting eyes. "You are so incompetent, you know, that your work is not valuable to us. We—"

She interrupted him by a gesture of ineffable scorn.

"I can maintain myself—and elsewhere," said she abruptly putting down her spools, and hastily arising from her seat.

"O, just as you please! We can easily obtain somebody in your place, you know. You can come to the office for the trifle due you," the interesting young gentleman said, with a change of aspect and with his most insolent autocratic air.

And then with his most offensively polished sneer flickering in his dull eyes and about his bulging lips he turned and left her to herself.

As he shambled away she became conscious of another presence—the presence of a stalwart and plainly dressed young fellow, who occasionally came there, and who always had a genial smile or a bit of courteous commendation for the pale little braider.

There he stood beside a great square column, his hands full of orders, his pen thrust beneath his natty cloth cap, his steady blue eyes fixed somewhat knowingly upon her agitated countenance.

The knowing look did not lessen her agitation; she felt he had witnessed the whole little scene, and that perhaps he might not pleasantly judge her. And, after all, perhaps she need not have been so precipitate—perhaps she need not have felt so affronted just because a detestably caviling and domineering individual had criticized her braiding and then wanted to marry her.

"I need not have left the factory; Alf Kamaron will consider me silly for that—I am certain he will," she sighed as she glanced after the stalwart young fellow, who just then moved from the column and went towards a busier division of the department.

Josie did not go in quest of the trifle due her. She donned her neat hat and trim jacket and went straightway from the big and noisy building, where she had been employed only since the beginning of the season.

The early dusk was already darkening the snowy winter street, and the tall lamps, like huge orange sparks, glimmered along the pavement. Again she sighed ruefully. She was going home sorrowfully and alone, as she had never done before since Alf Kamaron—the always plainly dressed and always genial Alf, whose gentle courtesies had brightened and gladdened her monotonous life and irksome labor.

"He will be sorry I have gone—I am certain he will," she thought.

And at the instant the steady and familiar footstep sounded behind her, and then the vigorous and plainly dressed figure was beside her.

"What was the trouble?" he inquired in his gentle and direct way. "Did that Hunt make himself offensive?"

"He has never made himself anything else," said Josie, ready to cry.

And then with girlish diffidence, and in a pathetically deprecatory way, she narrated what he had already sufficiently comprehended.

"You are a brave little working girl," Mr. Kamaron commented with a peculiar smile. "You would never profess to honor a person you deem despicable—not even when a bit of deceit might be an advantage to you."

"But I should always like to honor an employer," she ingeniously replied as she paused before the entrance at her own home.

"Your employer!" Mr. Kamaron repeated, with a peculiar little laugh, as he held her hand for a second and then reluctantly let her go. "Well, you may learn to honor him, Josie. And you are to come back to the shop in the morning—I am authorized to assure you of that."

Josie fancied he looked oddly amused and provokingly mysterious, but she ventured no questions. She was too gratified to feel that she was really going back to the noisy old shop and to the pleasant companionship of the considerate young fellow who was always so merry and gentle, and who wore his unpretentious working garb with such royal dignity and kingly grace.

And so she went back to the factory—but not to resume the irksome braiding.

Half-way down the work room she was confronted by a chunky personage, resplendent with a gorgeous cravat, a wonderful pin and a conspicuously immense watch guard.

"We have filled your place," Mr. Hunt grandiloquently announced, with his shifting eyes wandering to everything except the attentive face before him. "The fact of the matter is, we want only skilled labor. We cannot afford to keep workingwomen who spoil our goods and who are prone to a most reprehensible insubordination."

"And the fact of the matter is," began the quiet voice of Mr. Kamaron, who had suddenly become visible, his hands full of papers, the familiar pen thrust beneath the natty cloth cap—"the whole fact is, that you have no authority whatever here. When our superintendent wishes a holiday henceforth he must employ a less presumptuous substitute. We have had quite enough of your officious instructions and unauthorized ordering. We do not want you in the building, sir! Is that sufficient?"

The substitute superintendent mumbled backward, and so obsequiously that the irreverent Josie actually and unblushingly laughed, despite her sore bewilderment.

"Your mistake was not so singular though," he explained. "The name of the firm has not yet been altered, although the firm itself was dissolved some time ago. I happen myself to be the proprietor and master here, Miss Josie, and you can resume work whenever you like."

But Josie was not destined to resume the tedious braiding. As she turned toward her old place, he rather hesitatingly detained her.

"Josie," he began, with tenderest deference, "can you not honor your employer sufficiently to give your own sweet self all to him, to become the mistress of his home, the sovereign of his heart? My dear love, how shall I be answered?"

Her answer was not audible, but all the same, he knew her innocent, girlish heart was entirely his own. Master or workman, rich or poor, she loved and honored him.

"And that was the fact of the matter," he used to mischievously remind her when she had become his proud and joyous wife.

SYMPATHY WON'T BUY CHICKEN-SOUP.—Samuel Shin asked permission to read a letter which he had received from a colored widow in Tennessee. She stated that her husband was on his way to the postoffice to mail an application for membership when he fell over a cliff and was killed. She had been advised to bring suit against the club for $10,000 damages, but after due reflection had decided to compromise on enough cash to buy a mule and a mourning bonnet, and gave minute directions as to how the money should be sent. Samuel observed that his sympathies had been deeply touched, and he would move that the sum of $125 be immediately forwarded.

"Brudder Shin, how much cash am you willin' to contribute from your own pocket?" asked the president.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

STATE SENATE,
HON. WM. A. MARTIN, of Menallen.

ASSEMBLY,
Dr. GEO. L. RICE, of McSherrystown.
W. HOWARD DICKS, of Reading twp.

PROTHONOTARY,
GEO. L. H. GRAMMER, of Franklin.

DIRECTOR OF THE POOR,
FRANKLIN S. CROMER, Cumberl'd.

CORONER,
Dr. J. C. FELTY, of Gettysburg.

THE above is the ticket nominated yesterday. Want of time prevents more than brief mention.

Hon. Wm. A. Martin is a farmer and lumberman, conducting a large business with energy and success. The experience of several sessions in the Lower House will be of service to him in the Upper. It is not doubted that Cumberland will concede the term to Adams.

Mr. W. Howard Dicks is an active farmer, well informed on all subjects and a close observer of passing events.

Mr. G. L. H. Grammer is an accomplished teacher, standing high in the profession; an excellent clerk, and admirably qualified in every way.

Mr. F. S. Cromer is an energetic farmer, of strong business qualities, and will suit the place well.

Dr. Felty will conduct the Coronorship with ability and fidelity, no matter what the duty.

It is no disparagement of the unsuccessful to say that the ticket is a good one, claiming the undivided support of the party if not of the public. Let every Democrat interest himself in its success from now until the election.

THE members of the Convention yesterday are to be congratulated upon the excellent order that characterized their proceedings, and Chairman King upon his promptness and efficiency. Instead of getting up the "circus" which the Republicans so confidently anticipated, the delegates went to work in a business like way, and having concluded it, adjourned and separated as quietly as they had gathered. There were disappointments, of course, but the feeling of satisfaction was more general than for years. "Pick your flints and try it again," is a hopeful and useful motto.

REPUBLICANS admit that the Democratic ticket is a strong one; and, accordingly, the ambition of several youthful Republican aspirants suddenly abates.

THE material the Convention had before it embraced exceptional excellence, and a mistake could hardly have been made. The defeated to-day may be the successful next time; and the old extended to elect others now will come back like "bread cast upon the waters" in the future.

IT is thought Congress will adjourn about the first of July.

SECRETARY MANNING has gone to the Hot Springs, in Bath county Virginia, to remain some time.

OREGON did a good day's work on Tuesday by electing a Democratic Governor by 1,800 majority and several other State offices. This is significant. The New York Times, Republican, says "the result indicates the decadence of the Republican party," and that "other events happening almost simultaneously in the nearer West and in the East illustrate the same tendency."

THE Democrats of Wilmington, Delaware, gained a handsome victory at the recent city election. Henry Eckel was elected President of the City Council by 1,683 majority over Stanbury J. Willey, Republican; and Richard R. Griffith City Treasurer by 1,704 over Wilton S. Simpers, Republican. Eight Democratic and three Republican Councilmen were elected, making the next Council stand 15 Democrats to 8 Republicans. All which means that the Democrats of Del aware are wide awake and alive to the importance of defeating an enemy that has rioted on party spoils almost to the country's ruin. Democratic success points to the good of the country, no matter where achieved.

RUMOR says that Harry White would not refuse the Republican Congressional nomination in his district. He has proven a failure as a Judge.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND has declined a wedding present from the Sultan of Turkey for Mrs. Cleveland, because he thinks the acceptance would be foreign to the spirit of our institutions.

THE Republican Senate is endeavoring, by extravagant appropriations, to bankrupt the treasury, with a view to placing the responsibility upon a Democratic Administration. The dodge is plainly apparent, and honest men are asked to remember the facts and woo them if made necessary by Republican falsehood and cheek. The cold truth is the most effectual dose for the average liar.

THE Harrisburg Patriot entered upon its twenty-ninth year on Saturday with a sixteen-page issue. The Patriot is among the very best of inland dailies, and we are glad to observe every evidence of its prosperity.

MRS. CLEVELAND, the President's wife, will get about $30,000 out of the estate of Col. Folsom, her grandfather, just deceased.

THE insane and delironed King of Bavaria drowned himself in a lake near Munich on Sunday afternoon. His physician was also drowned in the effort to save the King.

JOHN BOYLE O'REILLY, speaking on the Irish question to a reporter, in Boston, said he was heartily glad to hear of the defeat of the home rule bill, for which England was not ready and which could not be squeezed through without being emasculated. Defeat brings on the great educational process of a heated national campaign, with home rule for the sole issue, in which Englishmen will learn more about Ireland than in fifty years of growth. Mr. O'Reilly had no fears for the ultimate success of the bill.

THE English cabinet has unanimously resolved to recommend to the queen a dissolution of Parliament after the Irish home rule reverse. Then will come the real tug of war.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND and wife returned to Washington on Tuesday night, after an absence at Deer Park of six days.

AMONG the pension propositions now before Congress are the Mexican (estimated expenditure $74,316,000,) Senator Logan's new bill (estimated expenditure not less than $600,000,000), Senator Colton's bill (estimated expenditure $50,000,000 a year), and the arrears repeal bill (estimated expenditure $222,268,100).

SENATOR LOGAN'S book is pronounced impudent twaddle.

Mr. Strubinger, from the committee on resolutions, then made the following report, which was unanimously adopted:

RESOLUTIONS.

It is Resolved, That, following a long established precedent in this Congressional district, the nomination of the Democratic candidate for Congress in the 19th district belongs and is heartily conceded to our sister county of York; and that the nominee of the Democratic convention of that county is hereby authorized to select Congressional conferees from this county.

Resolved, That, under the rules of notation, and as a matter of fair representation, the nominee for State Senator in the 32d Senatorial district should come from Adams county; and that, without doubting the cheerful acquiescence of Cumberland county in our request, we ask for our nominee the support of that county.

Resolved, That, recognizing the superior ability, the excellent character and the stainless record of our distinguished fellow citizen, Chauncey F. Black, and appreciating the honor done his party by his public services, it is the sense of the Democracy of Adams county that he should receive the support, before all other candidates, of our Delegates to the coming Democratic State Convention, and that those Delegates are hereby instructed to use every honorable effort to secure his nomination and respectfully request as earnestly as is in the power of this convention to support Chauncey F. Black for the position of Democratic nominee for Governor of Pennsylvania; provided that according to the best judgment of the Delegates of Adams, after they have consulted with the Delegates from the districted of counties of the Commonwealth, they shall deem it expedient and consider him the most formidable candidate for that position.

Resolved, by the Democracy of Adams county in convention, That the record of our Congressman, Hon. Jno. A. Swope, be endorsed, and that the thanks of this county, of which he is the honored son, be extended him for his efforts during his term of office in maintaining Democratic principles and policy on the floor of the National Legislature.

Resolved, That the committee and the convention invoke the undivided support of all Democrats in assisting and encouraging the nominees at the ensuing election.

The Convention then adjourned sine die.

The Pottsville Chronicle reminds the Republicans that General Grant and Sherman have denounced the late Secretary Stanton as bitterly as General Wheeler did.

HOME rule is not dead; far from it. It is only a question of time, be it more or less.

THE West Jersey Press, (Camden, N. J.,) whose editor, Sinnickson Chew, visited this place two weeks ago, expresses the correct idea, as follows:

The citizens of Gettysburg, witnessing with pride and satisfaction the erection of monuments on all parts of the battlefield at that place, have conceived the patriotic purpose of having placed in the "Diamond" of that historic town a colossal equestrian statue or monument to General Meade. It was the intention of the late General Hancock to bring this project to the attention of the Loyal Legion, over which he presided, and to the Grand Army boys as well, but his untimely death renders it necessary that some other worthy companion in arms of General Meade shall take up the work and with the assistance of such local aid as can be secured, carry it to a successful conclusion. It seems most fitting and proper that the General commanding the Union forces in the greatest pitched battle of the war should have the event perpetuated in manner and form as above suggested.

DR. NEVIN BURIED.—The body of Rev. Dr. John Williamson Nevin, the great theologian of the Reformed church, was interred in Woodward Hill Cemetery, Lancaster, at noon on Wednesday, with impressive ceremonies, and a large attendance from different parts of the State. Rev. Dr. Thomas G. Apple, President of Franklin and Marshall College, preached the funeral sermon from John xi, 25-26. Rev. Dr. A. A. Hodge, professor of Theology in Princeton College, followed in a brief address, dwelling upon Dr. Nevin's great intellect, and saying that the Presbyterian Church always considered him the greatest theologian in America.

RIOTING by the Orangemen at Belfast, Ireland, continued several days last week, compelling the police to fire into the mob. Six or eight persons were killed.

THE Chicago Anarchists will be brought to trial on next Monday. Partial confessions have been made to Police Captain Schaak by several of the witnesses secured. Among these is one Seliger, whose story, as told by himself, possesses startling features which, the prosecution avers, have not been made known.

He was on the most intimate terms with Lingg and Engel; he was at the meeting in the West Lake street basement at which it was resolved to attack the police in the Haymarket with bombs. When Seliger has testified to this he will be corroborated by several people who are indicted for conspiracy, and in this way the State expects to form a chain of evidence which no defence can break down. When all the evidence is in it is believed that the showing will be such as to startle those who have belittled the influence and numerical strength of the Anarchists. The grand jury was astounded at the evidence laid before it. If the charges of murder should not be proved against Spies, Schwab, Fielden, Parsons, Fischer, Engel, Lingg, Schnaubelt and Neebe, they will then be tried for conspiracy.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND paid one dollar for a marriage license, just as other connubial candidates do, in the District of Columbia. Had Mr. Cleveland come to Pennsylvania, however, he could have procured a license for fifty cents.

THE Republican State Bosses, with General Beaver on their hands, are in a dilemma akin to the man in possession of the bear. They would be more than delighted if some means were offered to get rid of him. The Bosses understand that Beaver's nomination is far from being safe or a strong one. But they are afraid to defeat him. The delegates are being instructed in almost every county for Beaver and there is a cry from the "Regular" lines of the party for Beaver's nomination. The latter element are clamoring for the "vindication" of the defeated candidate of 1882 and humble pie for the recalcitrant Independents. The Bosses know that the kicking will not tamely accept this bill of fare, and that while the Regulars may be able to make a great noise before the nomination, the Independents will likely be heard from in discordant tones afterward. Aside from being the one candidate who is sure to awaken the bitterness of four years ago, Beaver possesses other dangerous elements of weakness. With matters in this tangled condition, as to the leading candidate, and the Republican outlook in the State not very reassuring in any case, the Bosses are not as happy as they would like to be in the month of roses.—Greensburg Dem.

AWAY out in Arizona they are urging the wisdom of the nomination of Chauncey F. Black as the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. The Tucson Daily Star speaks of him as "a man of magnificent mental abilities, a personal and official record upon which there is not a ray of sunshine or the slightest tarnish, and a character which is peculiarly Pennsylvanian, bold and fearless, yet withal a big heart which beats in unison with the struggling masses."

WHILE playing in his father's yard at Brockport, New York, Leonard Conklin's six-year-old son, Roscoe, picked up a small shot gun, and one of his companions called out jokingly to him to shoot. He presented the gun at Jimmy Carey, aged four years, and fired, killing him almost instantly.

WESLEY DONESTY and Tabby Banks, both colored, were hanged at Winchester, Va., last Friday. They were hung for the murder of Joseph McFaul, a white youth, and aged 18 years, in November, 1884. The negroes were incensed at the election of Cleveland, and the murder was committed on the night the Democrats were celebrating the victory by a parade.

GEORGE FULLMER, of Sunbury, Pa., on Sunday after church took a hook, and seating himself in a swing in his yard, read and idly swung. The swing, made of an upright post and a heavy crossbeam resting on a tree was old; the upright gave way and the cross piece came down, and striking Fullmer on the head, killed him.

GROVER CLEVELAND was born March 18, 1837, and Miss Frances Folsom, July 21, 1864. He is in his fiftieth year, she is nearly 22. God bless them.

MR. PARNELL'S mother said to a New York reporter on Tuesday: "My son has engaged in this fight for his life, and I know he will be true to his colors."

A FLY IN A CHILD'S HEAD.—The York Gazette says that a fly entered the ear of Minnie, a daughter of Samuel A. Wallick, South Queen street, while the latter was playing in the room. It caused the child intense pain, and although it could be plainly heard buzzing in its new quarters it had gone into the head so far that it could not be seen. A physician was summoned, who after considerable difficulty succeeded in killing the fly, but was unable to remove it. The pain ceased with the fly's death, and it is thought that in time the fly will be gradually forced from the child's head.

GRASSHOPPERS IN TEXAS.—The abominations of desolation to vegetation is threatening Texas by grasshoppers. Within the past week millions have made their sudden appearance in Milam county in that State. The hoppers are small but the number has created a panic among the farmers who are desperate over their crops being destroyed. Reports from Bell, Falls and Williamson counties state that the plague has appeared there also. A meeting of planters was held to devise some plan to avert the destruction of their crops.

SURROUNDING COUNTIES.—The Baltimore and Hanover Railroad Company is erecting several substantial stone bridges between Valley Junction and Emory Grove.

Philip A. Small and George H. Schmidt, of York, are on a visit to Europe.

The State has brought suit against Cumberland county for $1,353 20, tax on personal property for 1881 and 1885. The county has paid the tax due according to the regular annual assessments, but the revenue commissioners claim that the tax should be based upon the tri-annial and not upon the annual assessments. It appears that the annual assessments are almost always lower than the tri-annial, and this has produced the above difference. The commissioners refuse to pay, and the matter will be taken through the courts, says the Volunteer.

Rev. A. J. Bender, of Chambersburg, was fined $20 for carting trout from a stream running through his premises. He was misled by an incorrect quotation of the law by a local paper.

NEW OXFORD RECORDINGS.—"Life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness" was what our fathers talked about. A republic that can't guarantee these things, which are nothing more than freedom and the protection of life and property, isn't much of a government.

Improve the Farm.—If the farmer improves his farm he improves his financial condition. The more valuable he makes it, the more his capital stock is increased, the larger will be his returns, and when he dies the larger will be his patrimony he leaves to his family. Fix up the old home then. Clean out the fence corners. Destroy the noxious weeds. Grub out the thistle and bushes. Burn out the stumps, &c. Make a paradise on earth of your farm, for are you not to live on it while you remain on earth, and will not your family live on it when you lie in your graveyard? Plant out young orchards so that your family may enjoy the good fruit that you had the foresight and energy to provide for them.

Stones hauled on the public roads should be broken immediately after they are placed there. The supervisor who neglects to attend to business of that kind is responsible for accidents that occur at such places. Break the stones at once and prevent your fellowmen from being killed or maimed for life.

Business Outlook.—Many healthy indications crop out here and there and offer hopeful reminders that when the strikes are over and the disorders of our large cities have subsided business will revive.

There seems to be a steadily increased demand for mechanical labor. We are told that carpenters can only be procured with difficulty to supply the demand for building in many sections as well as in this place. Other business industries a disposition to rebound from the recent depression.

It will, indeed, take time to get things back into the old channels—but a reaction is at hand, we think. And when it comes it will give a fresh impetus to trade, greeting out of the protracted inactivity which has rested upon the country and prepared it to start with fresh appetite and vigor.

In strolling over town a few days ago we were glad to see the streets and alleys looking so neat and clean. But few towns can boast of better streets and alleys, and no with pavements and crossings.

A Camp of the P. O. S. of A. was instituted in New Oxford, on Tuesday evening, by C. A. Hochhauder, State organizer, and Prof. J. C. Hildebrand, District President of Adams and adjoining counties, assisted by members of the order at East Berlin and other points. There were fifty-nine charter members, giving promise of a flourishing Camp. The following are the officers: President, D. J. A. Melhorn; V. P., E. G. Cook; R. P., Dr. J. L. Sheets; M. of F. and C., Harry Bushell; Conductor, G. A. Miller; Rec. Sec'y, C. W. Kehn; Ass. Sec'y., C. E. Biehl; Fin. Sec'y., W. N. Myers; Treasurer, G. C. Sheely; Inner G., Harry Coleman; Outer G., Albert Golden; Chaplain, P. H. Fissel; Left Sent., H. A. Sherman; Right Sent., Wm. Emmert, Jr.; Trustees, E. H. GEORGE ESMINGER, proprietor of the Franklin House, Carlisle, has sold out to SAM'L C. Sanders. Mr. Esminger has purchased the Leeew House on South Hanover street, same place.

THE heads of the federal departments and the Democratic city committeeman of Philadelphia have agreed upon a plan of rinsing off all the Republican official heads in their bureaus. Good!—Lane Intel.

PRINCE AUGUSTO LEOPOLDO, grandson of Dom Pedro, of Brazil, visited Baltimore and the Naval Academy at Annapolis last week.

UNLESS Mr. G. L. Magee supplies some epithet to Colonel M. S. Quay pretty soon the public may conclude that the annual farce of a slain fight is not on the programme this year.—Patriot.

THE Philadelphia Times suggests pensions for those who sent substitutes to the war. This is no doubt a covert cut, but to do something for Mr. James G. Blaine.—Patriot.

THE Stanton letter which Mr. Kelley produced as a valuable historical document is only so in the admission it contains that Stanton's interference caused the detention from McClellan of one of the two army corps and thus caused the failure of the Peninsular campaign. Stanton says that he kept the corps to save Washington, which McClellan had not left enough troops to protect. McClellan thought otherwise; and his judgment has been sustained by events. Stanton assumed a very critical position. Stanton thought he knew better than the commander-in-chief: who was a man to whom he proclaimed the greatest devotion and to and whom he says he became war minister. His way of supporting a general in whom he proclaimed supreme confidence was rebuke and eminently Stantonesque. Mr. Stanton thought he was "the eager man" than Lincoln, McClellan or anyone else around about. Mr. Kelly does not vindicate Mr. Stanton at all. Mr. Stanton's letter, taking all its protestations as verity; and a witness who is most vindictive himself with his own story is not going to be vindicated ever.—Lane Intel.

IT is a little remarkable that, right on the heels of Jeff. Davis' second uprising, Mr. Cleveland, instead of calling out the armies of the United States to go down and suppress Jeff. once for all, should so far forget his duty to his country, as to go and get married and then go honeymooning up at Deer Park, along the Baltimore and Ohio. Such recklessness is to be condemned.

GENERAL MASTER WORKMAN POWDERLY, it is reported, will resign his position the moment his enemies in the Knights of Labor show their hand, and, it is thought, this will not be very long. The Powderly congressional boom has received a fresh impetus in consequence.

STATION IMPROVEMENTS.—The station of the H. J., H. & G. R. R., in this place, is undergoing alterations of a decided character. The wooden structure in the rear has been torn away, to be replaced by a brick building, to contain ticket office, telegraph office, ladies' room, baggage and storage rooms, and closets; the circular stairway and partitions to be removed and the whole lower floor thrown into one room for gentlemen. The trains are to stop on the main track, with a platform from the building to it, and a roof projecting seven feet over the platform. The improvements are to be pushed right along.

The telegraph line is being extended from the depot to Superintendent Scott's residence, at the "Homestead" building, running along South Stratton street, and across lots. It will prove a great convenience during Encampments on East Cemetery hill.

IMPROVEMENTS. — Mr. Cornelius Weaver is building a two-story frame dwelling house on the south bank of Marsh creek, a short distance back of Seven Stars. In pulling down the old log house a stone was found walled in the chimney with this inscription: "1. M.—1730"—making the building 160 years old. The I. M. is supposed to represent Isaac Morris. The property was long in the hands of the Shank family.

D. K. Snyder is building a bank barn at his mill, in Highland township.

C. T. Lower thinks of building another dwelling house in McKnightstown.

HON. JNO. A. SWOPE arrived home last evening and returned to Washington this afternoon. He is in excellent health and spirits.

RACES AT HANOVER.—The Hanover Herald of Saturday says: It becoming evident during the week that the race announced for yesterday between "Be-Calm" and Daniel Logan's "Kinney" would not be run, endeavors were made to induce Col. McClellan to run the victorious "Armadale" against "Kinney." This could not be done, as the Colonel's horse had been turned out in grass. Col. McClellan, Mr. Ocker and Mr. Logan were all in town on Thursday, but nothing was agreed upon for yesterday. Mr. Ocker and Col. McClellan, however, changed the time of their next trial to July 23d, the purse to be $1000 a side, and Mr. Ocker to have his choice of tracks—Pimlico, Pottstown or Hanover. The forfeit money paid over is $500 for each horse.

Mr. Ocker reported his horse as rapidly improving, but not in condition to run a race. Accordingly, he forfeited to Mr. Logan the money ($400) put up to insure yesterday's race. "Kinney" was on the fair grounds, all the week, in prime condition.

IN FAVOR.—Our old Fort Wayne friend, Mr. John M. Moritz, has been elected a member of the board of School Trustees of that busy Indiana city. The trust is an important and honorable one, and is presided over by Hon. A. P. Edgerton, now a member of the United States Civil Service Commission. Congratulations, John!

MRS. S. M. STEWART, teacher of the colored school of this place, hands in the following:

I enrolled 51 names; 27 boys and 24 girls. During the session of nine months, Lottie E. Hartigan was not once absent. Samuel T. McCullough was absent five days; Joseph H. Devan six days, and Adam J. Myers seven days. During the last six months, Ferdinand G. Green was not once absent or tardy. There are many others whose record is almost equal to those named. For general excellence in deportment and recitation, Mary E. Hoster ranks highest. For good recitations, Myrtle Bligh Green, Adam J. Myers and Joseph H. Devan rank next. Emma A. Stanton, Ida M. Harrigan and Ferdinand Green are the best writers, but the greatest progress in writing during the session was made by two of the smallest pupils, Samuel T. McCullough and Amanda Craig.

REAL ESTATE SALES.—Rufus Krug has sold the Five Points restaurant property, in Hanover, to Mrs. Will. a Brandstaeder, for $1,700.

Mr. Krug has also sold a lot of ground with brick dwelling on Pitt street, New Oxford, to Jacob Hollzel, for $800; and a building lot adjoining to Milton Getz, for $350.

Messrs. John and Rufus Krug have sold a 15 acre lot of pine sprout land in Union township, Adams county, (the timber reserved,) to Ferdinand Brler, for $20 an acre.—Herald.

Frederick Wimand has sold the old Haverstock farm in Huntington township to Jacob N. Sollenberger, 150 acres for $6,500.

MORE VISITORS.—Delaware.—Last Wednesday evening a committee from the Delaware Legislature, accompanied by Gov. Stockley, Secretary of State Causey, Adjutant-General Postles and State Treasurer Houston, with a number of friends, arrived by special train. Thursday morning they visited the battlefield, and at 2 o'clock were joined by about fifty members of Smith Post, G. A. R., of Wilmington. Later they dedicated two fine monuments to the First and Second Regiments, one at the scene of Pickett's charge and one in the Wheatfield. They are eight and a-half feet high, both of blue Brandywine granite, the die being mainly rock face with a polished diamond, giving number of regiment, brigade and division, and having the second corps badge. Except in the lettering, they are exactly alike. On the front of the base of each monument, in polished letters, are the words, "Erected by the State of Delaware to Commemorate the Gallantry of her Sons, A. D. 1886." At the dedicatory exercises, which occurred at the monument of the first regiment, Gen. Postles presided. Capt. W. A. Brady gave a history of the movement of the First Regiment, and Col. John M. Dunn of the Second. Hon. Geo. B. Massey, of Dover, delivered the oration of the day, after which Hon. Enoch Moore, chairman of the legislative committee, turned the monuments over to the Memorial Association, which were received by Vice President Buehler.

The delegation were serenaded at the Eagle Hotel by the G. A. R. Band in the evening, and Governor Stockley, Mr. Causey and others briefly and happily responded.

The Delaware party were greatly pleased with their visit, and there is ground for the expectation that Governor Stockley and Secretary of State Causey, and perhaps others, will spend part of the summer here. Gettysburg is to have a lively season, and our Delaware friends would be pleasant and desirable acquisitions.

New York.—Thursday a special train of nine cars, four of them Pullman sleepers, arrived with 280 veterans and friends of the 111th and 126th regiments of New York Volunteers, who had started from Canandaigua the evening before. The veterans soon went to the spot where their brigade of four New York regiments, the third of the third division of the second corps, occupying the right of the corps, beginning at Ziegler's woods and covering part of the most hotly contested line of the battle. From here they indicated the line taken and described the charge in which their brigade commander, Col. George L. Willard, was killed, as also Gen. Barksdale, in command of the Confederate brigade opposing them. Locations were fixed for the future erection of monuments, the importance of which was made more apparent as in going over the whole field they saw how other states were marking the positions held by their troops. After spending two days in viewing the field, comparing recollections of the great struggle, the closing exercises of their visit were held before a large audience in the court-room on Friday evening. Maj. C. A. Richardson, of Canandaigua, chairman of the committee on arrangements for the excursion, called the meeting to order. Dr. P. D. Pottiere, of Hartford, Conn., presided, and on taking the chair read an address. He was followed by Rev. Lewis Halsey with a poem. Captain McIntire, of Palmyra, S. H. Parker, editor of the Geneva Gazette, Ex-Senator E. Hicks and Capt. L. P. Thompson, of California, and Chaplain Brown responded to calls and made timely and entertaining speeches. The G. A. R. Band of this place furnished choice music for the occasion. At the close of the meeting the visitors went to the train and left about eleven o'clock, over the G. & H., highly pleased with their trip and reunion at Gettysburg.

With the New York party came Mr. S. H. Parker, of the Geneva Gazette, an old and able advocate of correct principles. It was his first visit to Gettysburg, but we cannot believe it to be his last. He will always find a hearty welcome from his new acquaintances here.

9th Pa. Cavalry.—On Thursday an excursion party of about 50 from York, with representatives of the 9th Pennsylvania Cavalry regimental reunion at that place arrived via Hanover. Though not participating in this battle, they took decided interest in looking over the field, paying special attention to the cavalry movements east of town, the scene of which they visited, greatly admiring the handsome shaft erected to commemorate the fierce struggle in which probably 10,000 cavalry contested for the mastery which was finally won by Gen. D. McM. Gregg's division of the Union Cavalry corps.

MONUMENTS ERECTED.—Last week the Smith Granite Company added three more to the large number of fine monuments already erected by them on this field. They are:

22d Massachusetts, a cottage style monument on the loop in the avenue near Wible's, 11 feet high by 4 feet 9 inches square at the base, having a neat shaft and surmounted with a Maltese cross, and appropriately inscribed.

2d Rhode Island, on Round-Top avenue near the Rosensteel buildings, a well proportioned shaft capped with drum, wreath, &c., in bronze. This monument completes marking the line occupied by Gen. Eustis's 2d brigade of the 2d division, 6th corps, the other regiments of the brigade, the 7th, 10th and 37th Mass. having erected imposing memorials adjoining.

The monument where Gen. Reynolds fell, at the edge of the woods near the Springs avenue, is 8 feet high, 4 feet 2 inches square at base, and stands on a mound 4 feet high. This will be dedicated July 1st, when Col. A. Wilson Norris, late of the 107th Pa. regiment, will deliver the oration. On the same day survivors of the 107th regiment will hold their reunion.

The above monuments are of Westerly granite.

The monument of the 99th Pa. regiment, at the Devil's Den, near the Rills monument, of Quincy granite, 10 feet high, 4 feet 2 inches square at base, was also erected last week, Wm. Clark, of Philadelphia, being the contractor. It will be dedicated July 2d.

The monument of the 20th Maine regiment has arrived and will be set by Mr. J. W. Flaharty, of this place. It will stand on a boulder on the south slope of Little Round-Top which was dedicated by survivors of the regiment several years ago.

The massive conglomerate boulder to rest on the foundation dedicated last summer by the 20th Mass. arrived yesterday and will be put in place by Mr. Roach, representing the Smith Company, in a day or two, using a ponderous wagon with 21 inch front wheels.

A REMARKABLE STORY.—The citizens of Greenville, Mich., are talking about the remarkable fate of Mrs. Lyons. Eight years ago Abraham Van Horn bought a farm of her. He doubted the clearness of the title, and she was indignant and said: "If I am trying to cheat you I hope God will strike me dead." The trade was made, and Van Horn remained on the farm until recently, when another man had claim to it saying that he had a clear title. Van Horn at once went to Mrs. Lyons and demanded that she secure him from loss. She heard him make his request, attempted to speak, and fell dead. The neighbors say that her prayer has been answered.

LITTLESTOWN ITEMS. — William Rider, Edward Single, Andrew Kuhn and Frank Mehring have put new roofs on their barns, and George Hamer a new roof on his dwelling house, all residents of Germany township.

Littlestown has a Knights of Labor organization.

Mrs. George Stonesifer, while visiting at Hanover, lost her money purse, containing from $3.00 to $5.00.

Rev. D. N. Dittmar's church was closed last Sunday, he being called home to attend the funeral of his brother-in-law.

The old adage, "go away from home to hear news," has been confirmed in the report circulated by half dozen newspapers that Littlestown is to have a town clock. The citizens of Littlestown know nothing of it.

The farmers are cutting meadow grass.

A Most Distressing Accident occurred last Friday at the raising of a bank barn for George H. Unger, in Union township, which caused the almost instantaneous death of Andrew Sell and maiming of two others. They had raised the last frame at the wagon shed, and were ready to put up the tie pieces, when some young man jumped on the rope that stayed the frame, the sill turning and throwing the frame against the part raised, and demolishing the whole barn, crushing Mr. Andrew Sell, who lived only 15 minutes, and Henry Harms had an arm broken and received internal injuries from which he died last Saturday morning, and a son of John A. Lehr had an arm broken and otherwise injured and is in a critical condition. A number of others received scratches and bruises, but were not seriously hurt. The carpenter was Mr. Rohrbaugh, of Hanover, a brother of Mrs. Unger. The temporary supports yielded to the heavy frame, and the timbers badly crushed and broken. Mr. Sell was one of the most respectable citizens of Union township, aged about 60 years. Mr. Harms was a German painter, 32 years old, and unmarried.

June 14, 1886. EAGLE-EYE.

FAIRFIELD, JUNE 14.—This is another warm and wet morning, keeping the ground in fine condition for the growing crops, but not so favorable for making hay, as I hear some of our farmers expect to this week. I hear them say that the clover is again full of the small insects that prevented its blooming or forming seed last year. What is its name? At what time or by what kind of an insect is the egg deposited? Can none of our scientific men devise a remedy? Until some remedy is devised or their depredations cease, the farmers of "Carroll's Delight" will be deprived of one of their main sources of revenue, the making of clover seed.

During the heavy thunder-gust last Thursday evening, the lightning struck a large tree standing close to the dwelling of Hon. Jno. McGinley. His daughter Lizzie was severely stunned, but no further damage done.

The festival held by the ladies of the Mite Society came off on Friday and Saturday evenings, as per announcement. The weather was all that could be desired, and the attendance ditto. The music for the occasion was furnished by the Fairfield Orchestra. Over $200 was realized, but I presume your readers are not interested enough in them as to care whether Mr. Brown and Mrs. Brown, and all the little Browns, stopped for tea at Mr. Smith's, or with Mrs. Jones, whether Mr. O'Daugherty put up at the hotel, or took more refined apartments with his brother's wife's cousin, whether Miss McSwingle came from Gettysburg, Emmitsburg or Fountindale, whether they were visiting relatives and friends, or only doing a little shopping at some of our popular stores; and the interesting fact to us is that they patronized the festival liberally, for which they will please accept the thanks of the Society. The receipts aggregated about seventy dollars. S.

FINDING OF AN INTERESTING INDIAN RELIC.—One day week before last Mrs. Alice Rudisill, wife of Amos Rudisill, residing near Spring Grove, York county, while engaged in planting corn in one of the fields on her husband's farm, found lying on the surface of the ground where it had been thrown up by the plow, a rare and most interesting relic. In the shape of a large silver medal issued and presented by the British Government nearly 150 years ago to their Indian allies in the American Colonies for meritorious services against the French. The medal is about the size of an American silver dollar, and bears the date 1749. On the obverse side is the full length figure of an Indian chieftain, with appropriate emblems and inscriptions, finely wrought. It is in splendid condition notwithstanding the long time it had lain in the earth, and is as bright and well preserved as when first struck from the die at the mint. Local tradition has it that near the spot where the medal was found there was an Indian burial ground located prior to Revolutionary times. The medal was either buried there with its original possessor or accidentally dropped by the member of some scouting party on the war trail which led through that section.—Spectator.

—THE GRAND ARMY ENCAMPMENT AT GETTYSBURG.—Department Commander Cobin has issued General Orders No. 11 in regard to the G. A. R. Encampment at Gettysburg. Headquarters will be established on the camp on Thursday, July 1, and Posts are advised to send a detail in advance, with lists of comrades to attend, in order that quarters may be assigned, &c. Each command should provide himself with soap, towels and blanket.

A special train will leave Philadelphia at 11.30 p. m. July 3, stopping at all the principal points, reaching Gettysburg at 8 a. m. July 4; returning, leaving Gettysburg at 7 p. m. July 4. On the Pennsylvania and Reading Railroads tickets will be issued at single fare for round trip. The camp is to have electric light, and a fine band of music. Gen. Gobin says the week promises to be one of unusual interest and pleasure.

—The "Lambs," of Philadelphia, have been resuscitated for the Gettysburg Encampment.—The Frankford Band will furnish the music.—Chaplain Sayers will have morning and evening services on Sunday, the 4th of July.

—STATION IMPROVEMENTS.—The station of the H. J., H. & G. R. R., in this place, is undergoing alterations of a decided character. The wooden structure in the rear has been torn away, to be replaced by a brick building, to contain ticket office, telegraph office, ladies' room, baggage and storage rooms, and closets; the present waiting and partitions to be removed and the whole lower floor thrown into one room for gentlemen. The trains are to stop on the main track, with a platform from the building to it, and a roof projecting seven feet over the platform. The improvements are to be pushed right along.

The telegraph line is being extended from the depot to Superintendent Scott's residence, at the "Homestead" building, running along South Stratton street, and across lots. It will prove a great convenience during Encampments on East Cemetery hill.

—IMPROVEMENTS. — Mr. Cornelius Weaver is building a two-story frame dwelling house on the south bank of Marsh creek, a short distance back of Seven Stars. In pulling down the old log house a stone was found walled in the chimney with this inscription: "I. M.—1793"—making the building 150 years old. The I. M. is supposed to represent Isaac Morris. The property was long in the hands of the Shank family.

D. K. Snyder is building a bank barn at his mill, in Highland township.

C. T. Lower thinks of building another dwelling house in McKnightstown.

—HON. JNO. A. SWOPE arrived home last evening and returned to Washington this afternoon. He is in excellent health and spirits.

—RACES AT HANOVER.—The Hanover Herald of Saturday says: It becoming evident during the week that the race announced for yesterday between "Be-Calm" and Daniel Logan's "Kinney" would not be run, endeavors were made to induce Col. McClellan to run the victorious "Armadale" against "Kinney." This could not be done, as the Colonel's horse had been turned out in grass. Col. McClellan, Mr. Ocker and Mr. Logan were all in town on Thursday, but nothing was agreed upon for yesterday. Mr. Ocker and Col. McClellan, however, changed the time of their next trial to July 23d, the purse to be $1000 a side, and Mr. Ocker to have his choice of tracks—Pimlico, Pottstown or Hanover. The fastest money paid over is $600 for each horse.

Mr. Ocker reported his horse as rapidly improving, but not in condition to run a race. Accordingly, he forfeited to Mr. Logan the money ($100) put up to insure yesterday's race. "Kinney" was on the fair grounds, all the week, in prime condition.

—IN FAVOR. — Our old Fort Wayne friend, Mr. John M. Moritz, has been elected a member of the board of School Trustees of that busy Indiana city. The trust is an important and honorable one, and is presided over by Hon. A. Hamilton Hosey, now a member of the United States Civil Service Commission. Congratulations, John!

I enrolled 51 names; 27 boys and 24 girls. During the twelve months of nine months, Lottie E. Harrigan was not once absent. Samuel T. McCullough was absent five days; Joseph H. Devan six days, and Adam T. Myers seven days. Douglas Dorsey, the last seven months, Ferdinand G. Green was not once absent or tardy. There are many others whose record is almost equal to those named. The general conduct and deportment during recitation, Mary E. Reister ranks highest. For good recitations Ferdinand G. Green, Adam J. Myers and Joseph H. Douglas took next. Susan A. Shadrick, Ida M. Harrigan and Ferdinand Green are the best writers, but the greatest progress in writing during the session was made by two of the smallest pupils, Samuel T. McCullough and Amanda Craig.

—REAL ESTATE SALES.—Rufus Krug has sold the Five Points restaurant property, in Hanover, to Mrs. Will in Brandstadter, for $1,750.

Mr. Krug has also sold a lot of ground with brick dwelling on Pitt street, New Oxford, to Jacob Holtzel, for $800; and a building lot adjoining to Milton Getz, for $350.

Messrs. John and Rufus Krug have sold a 15 acre lot of pine sprout land in Union township, Adams county, (the timber reserved,) to Ferdinand Beler, for $20 an acre.—Herald.

Frederick Wiland has sold the old Haverstock farm in Huntington township to Jacob F. Sollenberger, 150 acres for $6,500.

—MORE VISITORS.—Delaware.—Last Wednesday evening a committee from the Delaware Legislature, accompanied by Gov. Stockley, Secretary of State Causey, Adjutant-General Postles and State Treasurer Houston, with a number of friends, arrived by special train. Thursday morning they visited the battlefield, and at 2 o'clock were joined by about fifty members of Smith Post, G. A. R., of Wilmington. Later they dedicated two fine monuments to the First and Second Regiments, one at the scene of Pickett's charge and one in the Wheatfield. They are eight and a-half feet high, both of blue Brandywine granite, the die being mainly rock face with a polished diamond, giving number of regiment, brigade and division, and having the second corps badge. Except in the lettering they are exactly alike. On the front of the base of each monument, in polished letters, are the words, "Erected by the State of Delaware to Commemorate the Gallantry of her Sons, A. D. 1886." At the dedicatory exercises, which occurred at the monument of the first regiment, Gen. Postles presided. Capt. W. A. Brady gave a history of the movement of the First Regiment, and Col. John M. Dunn of the Second. Hon. Geo. B. Massey, of Dover, delivered the oration of the day, after which Hon. Enoch Moore, chairman of the legislative committee, turned the monuments over to the Memorial Association, which were received by Vice President Buehler.

The delegation were serenaded at the Eagle Hotel by the G. A. R. Band in the evening, and Governor Stockley, Mr. Causey and others briefly and happily responded.

The Delaware party were greatly pleased with their visit, and there is ground for the expectation that Governor Stockley and Secretary of State Causey, and perhaps others, will spend part of the summer here. Gettysburg is to have a lively season, and our Delaware friends would be pleasant and desirable acquisitions.

New York.—Thursday's special train of nine cars, four of them Pullman sleepers, arrived with 280 veterans and friends of the 111th and 126th regiments of New York Volunteers, who had started from Canandaigua the evening before. The veterans soon went to the spot where their brigade of four New York regiments, the third of the third division of the second corps, occupying the right of the corps, beginning at Ziegler's woods and covering part of the most hotly contested line of the battle. From here they indicated the line taken and described the charge in which their brigade commander, Col. George L. Willard, was killed, as also Gen. Barksdale, in command of the Confederate brigade opposite them. Locations were fixed for the future erection of monuments, the importance of which was made more apparent as in going over the whole field they saw how other states were marking the positions held by their troops. After spending two days in viewing the field, comparing recollections of the great struggle, the closing exercises of their visit were held before a large audience in the court-room on Friday evening. Maj. C. A. Richardson, of Canandaigua, chairman of the committee on arrangements for the excursion, called the meeting to order. Dr. P. D. Pelton, of Hartford, Conn., presided, and on taking the chair read an address. He was followed by Rev. Lewis Halsey with a poem. Captain McIntire, of Palmyra, and H. Porter, editor of the Geneva Gazette, Ex-Senator E. Hicks and Capt. L. P. Thompson, of California, and Chaplain Brown responded to calls and made timely and entertaining speeches. The G. A. R. Band of this place furnished choice music for the occasion. At the close of the meeting the visitors went to the train and left about eleven o'clock, over the G. & H., highly pleased with their trip and reunion at Gettysburg.

With the New York party came Mr. S. H. Parker, of the Geneva Gazette, an old and able advocate of correct principles. It was his first visit to Gettysburg, but we cannot believe it to be his last. He will always find a hearty welcome from his new acquaintances here.

5th Pa. Cavalry.—On Thursday an excursion party of about 50 from York, with representatives of the 9th Pennsylvania Cavalry regimental reunion at that place arrived via Hanover. Though not participating in this battle, they took decided interest in looking over the field, paying special attention to the cavalry movements east of town, the scene of which they visited, greatly admiring the handsome shaft erected to commemorate the fierce struggle in which probably 2,000 cavalry contested for the mastery, which was finally won by Gen. D. McM. Gregg's division of the Union Cavalry corps.

—MONUMENTS ERECTED.—Last week the Smith Granite Company added three more to the large number of fine monuments already erected by them on this field. They are:

22d Massachusetts, a cubage style monument on the loop in the avenue near Webb's, 11 feet high by 4 feet 9 inches square at the base, having a neat shaft and surmounted with a Maltese cross, and appropriately inscribed.

23 Rhode Island, on Round-Top avenue near the Rosensteel buildings, a well proportioned shaft capped with drum, wreath, &c., in bronze. This monument completes marking the line occupied by Gen. Rustle's 2d brigade of the 2d division, 6th corps, the other regiments of the brigade, the 7th, 10th and 37th Mass., having erected imposing memorials publishing.

The monument where Gen. Reynolds fell, at the edge of the woods near the Springs avenue, is 8 feet high, 4 feet 2 inches square at base, and stands on a mound 4 feet high. This will be dedicated July 1st, when Col. A. Wilson Norris, late of the 107th Pa. regiment, will deliver the oration. On the same day survivors of the 107th regiment will hold their reunion.

The above monuments are of Westerly granite.

The monument of the 90th Pa. regiment, at the Devil's Den, near the Ellis monument, of Quincy granite, 10 feet high, 4 feet 2 inches square at base, was also erected last week, Wm. Clark, of Philadelphia, being the contractor. It will be dedicated July 2d.

The monument of the 30th Maine regiment has arrived and will be set by Mr. J. W. Flaherty, of this place. It will stand on a hotbluff on the south slope of Little Round-Top which was dedicated by survivors of the regiment several years ago.

The massive conglomerate boulder to rest on the foundation dedicated last summer by the 20th Mass. arrived yesterday and will be put in place by Mr. Rowe, representing the Smith Company, in a day or two, using a ponderous wagon with 27 inch tread wheels.

—A REMARKABLE STORY.—The gibgens of Greenville, Mich., are talking about the remarkable fate of Mrs. Lyons. Eight years ago Abraham Van Horn bought a farm of her. He denied the clearness of the title, and she was indignant and said: "If I am trying to cheat you I hope God will strike me dead." The sale was made, and Van Horn remained on the farm until recently, when another man laid claim to it, saying that he had a clear title. Van Horn no once went to Mrs. Lyons and demanded that she secure him from loss. She heard him make his request, attempted to speak, and fell dead. The neighbors say that her prayer has been answered.

—LITTLESTOWN ITEMS. — William Rider, Edward Slagle, Andrew Kuhn and Frank Mowring have put new roofs on their barns, and George Harner a new roof on his dwelling house, all residents of Germany township.

Littlestown has a Knights of Labor organization.

Mrs. George Stonesifer, while visiting at Hanover, lost her money purse, containing from $3.00 to $5.00.

Rev. D. N. Dittmar's church was closed last Sunday, he being called home to attend the funeral of his brother-in-law.

The old adage, "go away from home to hear news," has been confirmed in the report circulated by half dozen newspapers that Littlestown is to have a town clock. The citizens of Littlestown know nothing of it.

The farmers are cutting meadow grass.

A Most Distressing Accident occurred last Friday at the raising of a bank barn for George H. Unger, in Union township, which caused the almost instantaneous death of Andrew Sell and maiming of two others. They had raised the last frame at the wagon shed, and were ready to put up the tie pieces, when some young man jumped on the rope that stayed the frame, the sill turning and throwing the frame against the part raised, and demolishing the whole barn, crushing Mr. Andrew Sell, who lived only 15 minutes, and Henry Harms had an arm broken and received internal injuries from which he died last Saturday morning, and a son of John A. Johnstad an arm broken and otherwise injured, and is in a critical condition. A number of others received scratches and bruises, but were not seriously hurt. The carpenters at night, and Mr. Rothrock, of Hanover, a brother of Mrs. Unger. The temporary supports yielded to the heavy frame, and the timbers badly crushed and broken. Mr. Sell was one of the most respectable citizens of Union township, aged about 60 years. Mr. Harms was a German pathiser, 32 years old, and unmarried.

Miss Nina Nicky's select school closed with a pic-nic in Mr. McSherry's grove last Friday afternoon.

June 14, 1886. EAGLE-EYE.

—FAIRFIELD, JUNE 14.—This is another warm and wet morning, keeping the ground in fine condition for the growing crops, but not so favorable for making hay, as I hear some of our farmers expect to do this week. I hear them say that the clover is again full of the small insects that prevented its blooming or forming seed last year. What is its name? At what time or by what kind of an insect is the egg deposited? Can none of our scientific men devise a remedy? Until some remedy is devised or other circumstances change, the farmers of "Carroll's Delight" will be deprived of one of their main sources of revenue, the making of clover seed.

During the heavy thunder-gust last Thursday evening, the lightning struck a large tree standing close to the dwelling of Hon. Jno. McClellan. His daughter Linda was severely stunned, but no further damage done.

The festival held by the ladies of the Mite Society came off on Friday and Saturday evenings of this week, and was well attended. The weather was all that could be desired, and the attendance dito. The music for the occasion was furnished by the Fairfield Cornet Band. It never was full of visitors, but I presume your readers are not interested enough in them as to care whether Mr. Brown and Mrs. Brown, and all the Bible Browns, Quiet for the present, Mr. Smith's, or with Mrs. Jones, whether Mr. O'Daugherty put up at the hotel, or took more retired apartments with his brother's wife's connections, whether Miss McSpangle came from Gettysburg, Emmitsburg or Fountaindale, whether they were visiting relatives and friends, or only doing a little shopping. It seems of our popular stores; and the interesting fact to us is that they patronized the festival liberally, for which they will please accept the thanks of the Society. The receipts aggregated about seventy dollars. S.

—FINDING OF AN INTERESTING INDIAN RELIC.—One day week before last Mrs. Alice Rudisill, wife of Amos Rudisill, residing near Spring Grove, York county, while engaged in planting corn in one of the fields on her husband's farm, found lying on the surface of the ground where it had been thrown up by the plow, a rare and most interesting relic, in the shape of a large silver medal issued and presented by the British Government nearly 150 years ago to their Indian allies in the American Colonies for meritorious services against the French. The medal is about the size of an American silver dollar, and bears the date 1760. On the reverse side is the full length figure of an Indian chieftain, with appropriate emblems and inscriptions, finely wrought. It is in splendid condition notwithstanding the long time it had lain in the earth, and is as bright and well preserved as when first struck from the die at the mint. Local tradition has it that near the spot where the medal was found there was an Indian burial ground located prior to Revolutionary times. The medal was either buried there with its original possessor or accidentally dropped by the member of some scouting party on the war trail which led through that section.—Spectator.

This fine specific for dyspepsia, both in its acute and chronic form, also prevents and cures malarial fever, constipation, liver complaint, kidney troubles, nervousness and debility. Persons who observe in themselves a decline of vigor should use this fine tonic without delay.

CURING CLOVER HAY.

EDS. COUNTRY GENTLEMAN.—A correspondent wishes me to tell all about how I cut and cure hay.

It should be understood first what kind of hay I have. I sow about 4 quarts of timothy seed, and the same amount of clover, not mixing the seed, but sowing each kind separately. The hay will usually be about ⅔ clover, but what timothy there is does much good. It holds the clover up somewhat, so that it is not likely to get down so that that it cannot be mowed clean.

The quality of the hay is better from being kept up off the ground. The timothy may catch well where clover fails. I think I get decidedly more hay from sowing both together. Then it can be cured much easier with a little timothy in it.

It requires considerable work and time and experience to make choice hay out of clover, even when there is some timothy in it. As seasons and the weather vary, no fixed rule can be given, but I can, perhaps, give our friend a general idea of how we do.

I used to cut a small quantity at once, and do a good deal of fussing with hay caps and hand turning, &c. This was all very nice, but it cost too much. I have since learned to make about as good hay with far less bother.

The weather is watched closely, and when it is clearing up after a storm and the prospect good for some days ahead, and the clover has got into full bloom or a little past, I begin mowing about 2 p. m.

With the Eureka mower, six acres are easily cut before supper time. It will be so cool at this time, when the weather is clearing, that the grass will not cure enough to take any injury from the dew the first night. The next day, in the afternoon, it is raked into windrows, and if there is no danger of rain, it is left so, over night. The next day about 10 a. m. the windrows are turned over with a fork, and before the dew begins to fall they are put into nice high cocks. The next bright day, after the dew is all off, the hay is drawn in without opening, if there has been no rain.

This is the cheapest way that I have found to make good clover hay. I have at least two men beside myself at work in potato field, and if, at any time, there is danger of rain, the hay is put into cock as fast as possible, whether it is cured or not. In this case it will usually have to be opened and cured somewhat more before being drawn in.

A great point is to have a bright, warm day to draw hay in. In catching weather, such as we have some seasons, the only way is to cut and give it two or three hours sun, and then rake and cock it before another shower, and when there comes a fine day open and get it in. This makes more work, but it cannot be avoided some years.

In such a case one can often save the hay from injury, if it has to stand in the cock for some time, by building the cocks over between showers. Take the top forkful, and lay on the ground, and then the next one and put top of that, and so on. Thus arm the hay, and will enable one to keep it from spoiling in a very catching time. We once had six acres of hay which had to stand out 11 days before there was a day fit to get it in. A farmer told my men the hay was ruined, and would not be worth drawing in to the barn. If we had drawn it in between showers, damp and musty, it would have been ruined, but we built the cocks over between showers, and waited till a bright, warm day came, and then we made pretty good hay of it after all. That same farmer acknowledged that it was pretty fair hay.

But this was an extreme case. One can usually manage so as not to get caught if he mows at the right time. I have not spoken of using a hay-tedder, as the Eureka mower leaves the grass so loose that one is hardly needed. If you use a side-cut machine, the tedder will be quite a help.

In a dry year, clover will not have as much sap in the stalk as in a wet one, and hence will not need as much curing. The farmer should twist the stalks, and see how much sap there is in them, and cure accordingly. In a very wet season, when the growth is rank, one must be very careful or he will have poor hay. If he is observing, he can soon learn how to do under such and such circumstances.

I think many draw in hay too late at first. I usually have about as much hay open, or ready to draw in, as I think we can handle in good season, and then tell the men the sooner that is in the better it will suit me. And they know, if they hurry and get done by 5 p. m., that their day's work is done. It is very rarely that hay can be drawn in after 5 p. m. in this latitude, and not be injured. It begins to gather dampness sooner than many are aware of.

It is some work to make choice hay, but "there is no excellence without great labor," go, where you will, and one ton of choice dried grass is worth two tons of poor, damaged hay any day; and if I were a horse or cow, I should doubtless think it worth even more. Just imagine how we men would feel if the good wife should put on sour, musty bread for us to eat! We should not think that anything is good enough for the poor, patient cow, just because she cannot open her mouth and speak for herself. Her flesh and milk, though, will tell us in loud words the difference between choice dried grass and poor, damaged hay. If we have no pity for the animal, we might pity our own pockets.

What I have written about curing has been about crops of two or three tons to the acre. With a light crop, and particularly in a very dry year, less curing would be necessary.

I remember drawing in some clover hay once the same day it was cut, and it made nice hay. The crop was rather light, and a little over ripe, and the season dry and the day very warm. So "circumstances alter cases," and one needs much experience to know just what to do under all circumstances.

Summit County, Ohio. T. B. TERRY.

THE extreme richness of the milk of the reindeer, that feed on the wild mosses of Sweden, has led to an examination of the moss as an article of food. These researches have resulted in the establishment of a number of moss dealers in Russia and Sweden and a prosperous and growing interest has been developed. The moss employed yields, on an average, as much alcohol as good grain, and three times as much as potatoes. The supply is practically inexhaustible, as it is spread over vast tracts, extending from the Baltic to Behring Straits.

DISSOLVE all the salt in a barrel of water that it will take, and with this slake three or four bushels of lime. This is a cheap chloride of lime, and splendid for disinfecting cellars, drains and out-buildings.

IT is said that the experiment of milking cows three times a day at the Iowa Agricultural College did not increase the milk flow sufficiently to pay for the labor and expense of the extra milking.

SPRING-TOOTH ROYALTY.

Some of the farmers of Cumberland county have for some years been using a spring-tooth harrow that has been pretty generally regarded as possessing merits which the old kind of harrow has not. There are different makes of this harrow, among them the Perry Spring-Tooth Harrow, manufactured at Canandaigua, N. Y., by G. B. Olin & Co.; the Nellis Harrow, manufactured by Nellis, McIntyre & Co., of Pittsburg; a harrow manufactured by Ketchum & Barton, of Janesville, Wis.; and those manufactured by Chase, Taylor & Co.; Lawrence & Chapin, and Hiram Cobb, all of Kalamazoo, Michigan. These different makes of spring harrows have been selling at from $18 to $25 each, and as the special feature was nearly the same in all of them our farmers paid little heed as to which one of them they bought. What they wanted was a spring-tooth harrow, and they bought it where they could get it cheapest and best, indifferent as to what name was branded on it. Now comes the sequel: On the spring of the tooth used in these harrows there is a patent, known as the Garver Patent, and owned over the New England states, New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Pennsylvania, Maryland and the Virginias by G. B. Olin & Co., they having purchased and paid their money for it. The law gives them the right to collect the royalty of any one who makes, vends or uses the patent, and Olin & Co., learning that many of the makes of harrows which have the Garver spring tooth, were in use in this section, sent men here to collect the royalty on the patent off whom they could get it with the least trouble. J. A. Hebbard and C. A. Hebbard have been in this county for several weeks past, and by some means have gotten the names of the farmers who own and use the makes of harrows that have infringed, and called on them and informed them of their purpose. Geo. Bridges has sold about thirty of these harrows, and on Monday had a consultation at his office in Carlisle with the men to whom he sold them. The Hebbards showed by judicial decisions and opinions duly authenticated that the patent was protected and the disadvantage of fighting their claim in the courts. After consulting with his attorneys Mr. Bridges proposed to his customers that he would pay half the royalty claimed on each harrow, and, we are informed that all of them but one accepted the proposition, and the matter was settled.

A case arising from the infringement upon this patent is now pending in the United States Supreme court, but the owners of the patent claim to have high hopes of winning it, basing their hopes upon a favorable opinion Justice Stanley Matthews gave as Associate Judge in Ohio, before he was elevated to the Supreme Bench, an opinion of Justice Bradley in a lower court, and other opinions from able judges in lower courts. It may be legal, but is certainly unjust for Olin & Co. to collect this royalty before their right to it is finally determined in the courts.—Volunteer.

FINE wool, which the carpet and other woolen goods manufacturers are crying for, would seriously injure one of the few farm industries specially promoted by the tariff. Washington county, in this State, produces more wool than is produced on the same area of land anywhere else in the United States, and Greene, Fayette, Westmoreland, Somerset, Bedford, Cambria and other counties in that quarter, are considerably interested in wool production also. So are many of our northern and northwestern counties. Sheep raising ought to be promoted in Pennsylvania, as much of our more hilly and mountainous land is fit for nothing else. By the census of 1880, we had in this State 1,776,509 sheep, exclusive of spring lambs. Including these lambs, the number must have exceeded two millions. It would be easy for Pennsylvania, in course of time, to carry five or six million sheep, without encroaching on her best grain-raising land. But if wool should be put on the free list, the number of sheep in the State will diminish instead of increasing. And yet Pennsylvania's representatives in Congress are not only asked to vote for free wool, but the Philadelphia manufacturers of woolen goods are endeavoring to dragoon them into that vote. The persons engaged in this attempt at dragooning are the same who have for several years been indulging in twaddle about expanding the ports of the world to the products of American farmers." Now they want the ports of the United States opened free to the products of Australian wool growers, to the great damage of American farmers engaged in wool-growing. Pennsylvania's vote in Congress ought to be solid in opposition to this blow at her farmers.—Volunteer.

THE first herd of cattle known on the continent of America were brought by Columbus on his second voyage. From these, and from other small herds brought by later Spanish navigators, the wild cattle of South America descended. In 1555, the Portugese took cattle and hogs to Newfoundland and Nova Scotia. The Canadian cattle were introduced in 1608. In 1620 Virginia had 500 head of cattle. The most stringent laws were introduced in 1621. It is said that for a time prices were regulated by color, a red calf being cheaper than a black one because it was more likely to be mistaken by the wolves for a deer and killed.

A SIMPLE barometer that can be made at home, is made as follows: Two drachms of camphor, half drachm of pure saltpeter, half drachm of muriate of ammonia and two ounces of proof spirits, in a glass tube or narrow phial, will make a very good weather guide. In dry weather the solution will remain clear. On the approach of change, minute stars will rise up in the liquid, while stormy weather will be indicated by the very disturbed condition of the chemical combination.

DURING a visitation of cholera in London, one side of a street was ravaged, while the other, supplied with water from a different source, escaped. An eminent hygienist says that the always floating products of the decomposition of leaves, wood, etc., and all forms of vegetable matter, are the most frequent causes assigned for epidemics of typhoid fever.

THE United States leads the world in point of height of building. The principal heights of known buildings are as follows: Washington Monument, 555 feet; Cologne Cathedral, 520; Rouen Cathedral, 496; great pyramid of Egypt, 478; Cathedral of Strassburg, 465; Cathedral of Vienna, 452; St. Peter's of Rome, 333; Capitol, Washington, 288; spire of the Invalides, 344.

HOGS give returns so quickly that even if a small profit is made on each lot these profits can be made so often and so quickly that the rearing and feeding of hogs is one of the most paying occupations of the farm.

THE bakers stick at sixty hours' work per week. The old hymn, "I Round Thee Every Hour," is out of favor among them.—Boston Transcript.

How's Your Liver?

Is the Oriental salutation, knowing that good health cannot exist without a healthy Liver. When the Liver is torpid the Bowels are sluggish and constipated, the food lies in the stomach undigested, poisoning the blood; frequent headache ensues; a feeling of lassitude, despondency and nervousness indicate how the whole system is deranged.
